TRACTION CARS BEGIN MOVING

MOB OF STRIKERS CHARGED BY SOLDIERS WITH BAYONETS.

Saloons Closed by the Military—Crowds Awed by Readiness of Militia. By Wire to The Telegram.

Alban, May 16.—The United Traction Company this morning began to move their cars. The tenth battalion covered the cars by dropping out details at the street corners. When Company A, twenty-third regiment, started car out the mob massed at Central avenue. Persuasion availled nothing, "charge bayonets" shouted Lieutenant Colonel Brady, and on went gleaming points. The men charged the crowd with a rush and when they reached them the order was given to reverse their guns and the butts smashed hard against human flesh. With bloody faces the crowd surged back, some with broken bones, and army details began to closing up every saloon and house. In two of the corner saloons the soldiers had to club men with their rifles. General Barnes was on the first car. It was manured by two conductors and two Pinkerton detectives. The detectives were not to fire unless forced to but they looked about to take care of themselves. Wherever a window opened the guardsmen caused it to be shut by shot. The street corners looked like military posts. Lieutenant Brady started with second car which was filled with militia. Flagstone obstructions were quickly removed, and the crowd was awed by the readiness of the militia.

SEN. STOKES NOT GUILTY.

Slayer of a Virginia Minister Exonerated By The Jury.

Williamson, Va., May 15.—This morning Senator Stokes stood up in the court room and pleaded "not guilty" to the indictment accusing him of the murder of Rev. I. J. Woll, a Presbyterian minister here last November, and was later acquitted. The trial is the final outcome of Rev. Mr. Woll's sensational sermon in which Williamson society came under the sharp lash of his invective. The theory of the prosecution was that Stokes sought the minister in his own house and demanded an apology and provoked a quarrel in which Mr. Woll was killed. But the first witness was within 150 yards and at the first bark of the pistol rushed toward the scene of the fray. There he found Stokes, although shot twice, still standing with smoking revolver in hand and in reply to a question Stokes said: "Woll shot me first and I had to kill him."

At that time Riley said Mrs. Leneve of Richmond, Va., who was the only eye-witness to the fatal shooting, corroborated Stokes. Riley's testimony virtually disposed of the State's case, as it was known from affidavits made at the time of the shooting that the evidence of Mrs. Leneve would tend to exculpate Stokes. Senator Stokes took the stand and explained how Woll was killed. There was no other witness for the defense. Tonight the jury returned a verdict of not guilty, and Senator Stokes is again free.

MRS. M'KINLEY SLOWLY DYING.

END EXPECTED ANY MINUTE.

SO SAY THE PHYSICIANS AT THE HEATH RESIDENCE.

The First Lady of the Land Laying at Death's Door—Physicians Remain at Her Bedside All Night—She Passes Sleepless Night—All Arrangements Cancelled.

By Wire to The Telegram.

San Francisco, May 16.—Mrs. McKinley is dying and the end is expected at any moment. A bulletin from the sick room at five o'clock this morning gave no encouragement. This comes straight from the Scott residence where the patient is lying. She passed a restless night, sleeping but little. Doctors Bixby and Hirachfeld remained at her bedside throughout the night. Acute dysentery is sapping Mrs. McKinley's strength. She becomes unconscious at long intervals. Her heart is affected and artificial methods have been resorted to to stimulate action. All arrangements for entertainments today have been cancelled. The President did not sleep last night.

LATER—11 a. m. Pacific time—Authoritatively learned that Mrs. McKinley's life hangs by a thread, liable to expire at any moment. The President is at her bedside and members of his cabinet say he has given up all hopes of his wife's recovery.

Miner's Safety Lump.

The object of the wire gauze on a miner's lamp is to keep the fire-damp of the mine and the flame from contact with each other, and a very simple experiment will show how it does it. If you hold a piece of wire-gauze close over an unlighted gas-burner, and then turn on the gas the gas will go through the gauze and may be lighted above it; but if you raise the gauze two or three inches from the burner the flame will continue to burn above the gauze, but will not go down through it. In raising the gauze you seem to be lifting the flame away from the burner.

It is evident, therefore, that flame will not pass through wire gauze, and the reason is that the gauze takes away the heat of the flames so quickly that not enough heat can get through to ignite the gas on the other side. That is the principle of the safety-lamp. The fire-damp can get through the gauze covering and burn in the lamp-flame in combination with the oxygen of the air, but the flame cannot get through the gauze to ignite the fire-damp outside of the lamp.

The Elks Last Night.

The Elks initiated four candidates into the mysteries of that order last night. Those who rode the goat were Messrs. W. I. Underwood, W. B. Strach, Dr. Chas. Roberson, and Prof. Clarence R. Brown. The goat was hungry and did full justice to the viands set before him.

Mrs. W. E. Stone gave a luncheon today to several friends.

Mr. M. E. Street and Mr. A. J. Jones, of Glendon, spent last night in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Holton went to Asheboro this morning to spend a month.

Mr. W. L. Wharton went to Statesville this afternoon. Mrs. Wharton left on the noon train for Mebane to visit her sister.

Rev. James E. Schoolfield, of Danville, Va., was in the city last night and made a talk at the West Market street prayer meeting.

Rev. W. M. Bagby, of Monroe, spent last night with friends in the city. He was returning home from engaging in revival work in Winston. He led the prayer meeting of Centenary Methodist church last night.

D. A. TOMPKINS IN HIGH POINT.

DELIVERS THE ANNUAL ADDRESS BEFORE THE GRADED SCHOOL.

Education of Great Value, But Should Be Supplanted By Practical Training.

High Point, May 16.—Hon. D. A. Tompkins, of Charlotte, delivered the annual address before the school last night in the M. E. church. Fully one thousand people were present, expecting to hear something good in the speech making line and they were not disappointed. Mr. Tompkins' remarks were timely and to the point and struck the popular chord of approval here. His subject was "Industrial Education." In the beginning he wished to express his appreciation of the progress and growth he had seen here. Since his visit here ten years ago the development in all lines was marvelous and it was especially gratifying to know that all this progress had been made through the efforts of home people. Sometimes he was asked "how to build up a Southern town?" he would tell them in the future to visit High Point and see.

There was a time when education meant to get what was in text books without putting any of the theories into practice. That kind of education solely is getting to be worthless. The times now require much more the practical part—the training of the hands.

We need practice to work, to acquire skill and experience. Factories are in search of men who can actually get a result. These men always command good pay. The manufacturer has in fact two important duties always on his hands.

1. To get rid of unnecessary appliances for positions who can do nothing and

2. To find men who have the knowledge, edge, and skill necessary to keep his factory going.

Education is of great value if properly supplanted with practical training.

A common school education and an apprenticeship is much better than a college education without an apprenticeship.

I emphasize the importance to you of now acquiring by honest work some skill.

The above extracts from Mr. Tompkins' address are only a few of his many true and thoughtful remarks.

The closing exercises of the school commencement were held this morning exercises being open by singing "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name," after which the following program was admirably carried out by each participant.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

It Convenes in Little Rock Today—Opposition to a Foot-Note to Confession of Faith.

Little Rock, Ark., May 15.—The forty-first General Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian church meets here tomorrow. Tonight the commissioners reported for enrollment and there were over 200. The opening sermon will be delivered by Rev. N. M. Woods, D. D. of Memphis. Overtures asking that the location of the home missions committee be changed from Atlanta to Little Rock have been received. Lively discussion for revision of the church law on ecclesiastical commissions is expected. A committee was appointed by the last Assembly to consider and advise action. A majority report will be made by Rev. R. C. Reed, who is here, and a minority report by Judge J. W. Martin.

A great volume of overtures has come up protesting against the insertion of a foot-note to the Confession of Faith on the "elect infant" clause, on the ground that such a foot-note may be constructed as a virtual amendment to the Confession of Faith without having taken the constitutional steps.

No Kids.

Yonker's Statesman.

"Mamma, you'll have to take your gloves off before we go in here."

"Why so, Johnnie?"

A CATHOLIC JUBILEE.

Closing of the Century Celebration in Old Rome.

Elaborate and Impressive Ceremonial Known as the Closing of the Holy Door and Its Significance.

Many ceremonials took place in Rome in connection with the close of the nineteenth century, but none was either more interesting or imposing than that incidental to the closing of the holy door at St. Peter's cathedral. The last year of the century is jubilee year in the Catholic church, as all Catholics and many Protestants are aware. Therefore 1900 was marked by many ceremonies in connection with the period. The opening of the holy door took place over a year ago, and the ceremonial of closing was observed last Christmas eve. Owing to the delicate state of the present pope's health the building in which the opening and closing ceremonies took place had been heated to the temperature of Leo XIII's private apartments to avoid any possibility of his holiness taking a chill, says a London paper.

The ceremony of opening the holy door is declared to be symbolic of the fact that the church is open to all men so long as they go there after a thorough and sincere conversion. When the pope opens the door the three knocks which he gives to it represent the three continents—Europe, Africa and Asia—to which the pope offers the treasures which he is the medium for dispensing. The three strokes also are looked upon as symbolizing the joy that the jubilee causes to the faithful of heaven, earth and purgatory. The pope, who is seated on a raised throne in front of the large door in the middle of the grand portico, remains stationary for a brief while until the prince of the throne presents a golden hammer to his holiness which the latter takes in his right hand and, rising from his throne, goes and knocks at the holy door. His clergy follow him, each with a candle in his hand. His holiness, after knocking three times at the door, says in Latin: "Open to me these doors of justice!" Then the choir adds: "This is the door of the Eternal One, and the just will enter in," etc. After this the master masons knock down the wall which encloses the holy door, the wall being so lightly put together, however, that its four sides are held together but slightly, the stones of which it is composed not being cemented. Thus, no sooner has the pope knocked at the holy door than it falls without any resistance. The debris of the wall is distributed among the worshipers, who hasten to gather it in order to put it among their precious reliques.

While this is taking place the pope reseats himself on the throne, but after the demolition is completed the penitentiaries of St. Peter take their brooms, clean the floor, remove the pieces of brick and mortar from the passage—which are not looked upon as material to be held in high esteem, since reliques are made of them—and wash the moldings and all round the door with holy water. This work being finished his holiness once more descends from his throne, singing the anthem which opens with the words: "Haec dies quam fecit Dominus," etc., which the choir continues to sing after him. Arriving at the holy door the pope recites some prayers, takes the cross, kneels before the door, intones the Te Deum, and, rising again while singing, passes through the holy door, his clergy following him. Everybody who can goes into St. Peter's to witness this superb ceremony or to take part in the vespers at the papal chapel. After the vespers the cardinals take off their robes and put on their red capes, accompany the pope to the door of his private apartments and then retire. After the morning mass on Christmas day his holiness goes to the lodge of the beneficent in the form which is only used on the occasion of the jubilee.

The closing of the door is a very similar ceremony to the opening. The greatest solemnity is observed, and thousands of privileged pilgrims flock to the cathedral to be witnesses of what, except in rare instances, occurs but once in a lifetime. His holiness lays the first brick for the closing of the door, all the cardinals, monsignors and other dignitaries in Rome being witnesses of the operation. The bricks used for this purpose are about double the ordinary size, being covered with a thin layer of plate—in some cases of silver and in others of gold. They bear in relief the papal arms and the inscription: "Leo XIII. Pont. Max. Aperuit et clausit."

According to an English consular report oil engines are rapidly advancing in favor in Palestine for the purpose of drawing water from the deep wells to irrigate the orange gardens. Hitherto the water was pumped by animal power. There was a large water wheel and from four to eight mules were required to revolve it, according to the size of the wheel.

Bad Circulation is the cause of most of the ills that come with old age. With advancing years there is a decline of strength and vigor—the machinery of the body moves with less speed and accuracy. Because of the weak and irregular action of the heart the blood moves more slowly, becomes impure and loses much of its life-sustaining properties, and muscles, tissues and nerves literally starve for lack of nourishment. A sluggish and polluted circulation is followed by a long train of bodily ailments. Cold feet, chilly sensations up and down the spine, poor appetite and digestion, soreness of the muscles, rheumatic pains, hard and fissured skin, face sores, chronic running ulcers on the lower limbs and other parts of the body—these and many other diseases peculiar to old people are due to a lack of healthy blood and imperfect circulation. Restoration to health must come through the building up and purification of the blood, thus adding strength and tone to the vital organs and quick, healthy action to the circulation.

S. S. S. being strictly a vegetable blood remedy and the best tonic, makes it the most valuable and efficacious of all medicine for old people. It is free from all mineral ingredients, and mild and pleasant in its action. It cures blood diseases of every character, even those inherited or contracted in early life. As the system gets under the influence of S. S. S. there is a marked improvement in the general health, and as richer and purer blood begins to circulate through the body the appetite improves, and there is a softness and elasticity about the skin that you have not noticed for years; sores begin to heal, pains in muscles and joints gradually cease, and you find that it is possible to be happy and healthy even in old age.

Our medical department is in charge of physicians who make a study of blood and skin diseases. If you would like to have their opinion and advice in your case, write them all about it and you shall receive such information and advice as you want. This will cost you nothing. Others have found our medical department of great benefit to them—their cure being much more rapid as the result of some special directions received from our physicians.

Don't be your own doctor when you can get medical advice free. Book on Blood and Skin Diseases mailed to all who desire it.

A WOMANLY MANIA.

That Old Habit of Putting Up of Canned, Jammed, Preserved, and Pickled Stuff.

After the husband had been in the cellar battening the windows down for winter he took a long, hard look at his wife, this being his method of inducing her to show the first flickering of temper, says the Detroit Free Press.

"Now, what's the matter?" and she looked just as dangerous as he.

"I have been counting the jars of canned, jammed, preserved and pickled stuff in the cellar. Were you under the temporary delusion that we are running a hotel? Do you take us for a couple that can consume the product of all kinds of orchards and two or three truck farms? Is it your theory that we live to eat? Now, my first wife."

"Cut that out, Mr. Henry William Jones. I've listened to all this first wife talk I'm going to. I don't care a rap if she never canned a can or pickled a pickle. I don't care whether she tried to starve you or not, or whether you were such a poor provider as to drive her to an early grave. I'm your wife now, and if you ever find an empty cellar it will be because you have published a warning against giving me credit, or the house has been burned down."

"But, dearie, don't you know that we can buy all that sort of thing for a good deal less than it costs to prepare it at home?"

"Don't 'dearie' me. You come in here looking as savage as a Chinese Boxer and you can't softsoap me now. In the first place, I like to put up fruit and vegetables. I know how to do it, and if there happen to be a few hundred cans to carry over from one winter to another we are that much to the good if you fail or get sick. In the second place, I know how to preserve these things. I just stick to the good old pound-for-pound rule in fruits and season-to-the-taste in vegetables. I give you better than you could buy at a million dollars a can, and if you don't know enough to appreciate it I'll have no difficulty in returning to the home from which you enticed me."

By this time she was in tears, and he was busy, with both arms, striving to console her, while assuring her that, the more she canned, preserved, jammed and pickled, the more he loved her.

All who use Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism are delighted with the quick relief from pain which it affords. When speaking of this Mr. D. N. Sinks, of Troy, Ohio, says: "Some time ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism in my arm and shoulder. I tried numerous remedies but got no relief until I was recommended by Messrs. Geo. F. Parson & Co., druggists of this place, to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. They recommend it so highly that I thought it would be worth while to buy a bottle. I was soon relieved of all pain. I have since recommended this liniment to many of my friends, who agree with me that it is the best remedy for muscular rheumatism in the market." or sale by C. E. Holton, Druggist.

ROBBED THE GRAVE.

A startling incident of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately a friend advised me to trying Electric Bitters, and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cts., guaranteed at C. E. CAUGHT A DREADFUL COLD.

Marion Kooke, manager for T. M. Thompson, a large importer of fine millinery at 1658 Milwaukee Avenue, Chicago, says: "During the late severe weather I caught a dreadful cold which kept me awake at night and made me unfit to attend my work during the day. One of my milliners was taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a severe cold at that time, which seemed to relieve her so quickly that I bought some for myself. It acted like magic and I began to improve at once. I am now entirely well and feel very pleased.

MCLEEE'S Wine of Cardui

It isn't necessary for a woman to give particulars. When she says she has "female troubles", other women know what that means. It means days and nights of endless suffering. It means headaches which no tongue can describe. It means that terrible bearing and dragging down in the lower abdomen. It means agonizing backache, and shoulder ache, and arm ache, and aches in the lower limbs. It means nerves on edge—the blues—despondency and loss of hope. It means debilitating drains that the doctors call leucorrhœa. It means martyrdom—sometimes even death seems preferable. And still Wine of Cardui will utterly put those diseases and pains to rout. It has cured thousands of cases when nothing else on earth would. To the budding woman, to the bride, to the wife, to the expectant mother, to those going through the Change of Life, this Vegetable Wine is a blessing.

WHICH THE GREATER WONDER.

Prof. Crook, whose name has been paraded as that of the man who sanctimoniously claimed that he had never followed any of the bad habits of life, makes this explanation of his conduct:

"One day I was talking with a young man who had a reputation of being wild, I was deeply interested in him, as I am in every young man and young woman who come before me as students in my classes.

"I assured him of my deep solicitude for his future if he persisted in the ways he had adopted. He argued the question with me and insisted that everybody expected young men to sow wild oats. He said that every man did and that they were the better and the wiser for it when they were older. He even quoted Luther to me:

"Who loves not women, wife and son,

Will live a fool his whole life long."

"I lost patience with him and told him he was utterly wrong, but he insisted that he was not different from what other men had been at his age, and then he said that perhaps if I were to look back and remember some of my old school days I might have a little fellowfeeling for him. This called from me the remark that I had not intended to pose as an example, but that if he were to follow me as a model he would never smoke, swear, drink, chew, lie, or flirt with women, for I had never done any of these things in my life.

"This young man told one of his friends of what I had said. It soon became noised about and the newspapers got it.

"These are indeed degenerate days! It is still a question at which to wonder most—at the college professor, thirty-seven years old, who never swore, smoked, drank, chewed or kissed a woman, or at the world that stood aghast when it found such a man."

It is indeed a pertinent inquiry which the Professor suggests in the last paragraph. But under the sting of the taunts inflicted upon him by persons to whom he had been misrepresented, Professor Crook allows himself to fall into a natural error. We assure him that neither of his questions are relevant. The world does stand aghast at such a man as he describes, nor are such men so rare as to be regarded as curiosities. It is the unscrupulous newspaper which will misrepresent any man for the sake of making out a bugaboo, and the people who read such papers andgulp down their contents that are the wonders.

The fact that the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church South, has succeeded in raising its $1,500,000 thank offering is worthy of more than passing notice. The great philanthropic work which the Christian denominations of this country are doing is fairly illustrated by this item of a million and a half of dollars which goes for the one object of education.

A Baltimore dispatch says:

It is learned here from reliable sources that the United States Collieries, Iron and Steel Company, of this city, has entered into a contract with the Orleans Railroad Company of Bordeaux, France, by which it is to furnish to the railway company several thousand tons of coal per month. It is understood that this coal was formerly bought in England, but the new export duties to be levied in that country on coal makes it possible for the local company to compete abroad. The United States Collieries Company has recently opened up extensive coal fields in Kentucky and large iron mines in South Carolina and will make an active effort for foreign trade. At the office of the company here it was said that no details of the deal with the French railway company could be made public at this time.

So England will not get so much money from her export duty on coal, which was laid to raise funds for the Boer war. The price of coal is to be a great question to England, and bids fair to be one of the factors in undermining her trade supremacy of the world. The coal fields of America are practically untouched, while England must daily go deeper and deeper for her fuel, and every additional foot of depth adds to the cost of her coal, the increased cost of her coal adds to the cost of goods, and this is already telling on her.

CROOK, the Unkissed.

(Professor) Crook of the Northwestern University has sprung into fame by asserting that he "never hugged or kissed a woffian."

Professor, Oh, Professor, Did you never slyly slip

Your arm around a damsel with a red and pouting lip?

Did you never feel a quiver

From your fingers to your toes?

When you sought to kiss rightly, but caromed upon her nose?

Professor, Oh, Professor, Did you never take a drive,

When the moonlight and the maiden

made you glad you were alive?

Never guide the horse—one-handed.

Or, through one part of the trip,

Let him amble slowly homeward with the lines wrapped around the whip?

Professor, Oh, Professor, Did you never take a drive,

When the moonlight and the maiden

made you glad you were alive?

Never guide the horse—one-handed.

Or, through one part of the trip,

Let him amble slowly homeward with the lines wrapped around the whip?

Professor, Oh, Professor, Did you never feel a tug

At your heartstrings, when the moment was approaching for a hug?

Did you never get the tingle,

Like a strong magnetic breeze,

Which is the peculiar symptom of a frank and honest squeeze?

Professor, Oh, Professor,

In you tan-and-freckles days

Did you never try "postoffice" and such oscillating play?

Did the girls of your fancy

Never kiss you on the cheek?

And you, to prove devotion, wouldn't wash it for a week?

Professor, Oh, Professor,

Of your failings I take note,

And it's hard to think that really you have got the right to vote!

And my only hope Professor,

If it's true you not been killed

In the Fate has fixed it some way that you don't know what you've missed.

Fire Swept 455 Acres.

A journey of four miles would be necessary to travel around Jacksonville's burned area. Under the direction of the Board of Public Works a survey was made Friday of the district swept by fire. The fire traveled from east to west 6,120 feet, or 1.61 miles, and from north to south 3,240 feet, or .61 mile. The area now in ruins is 455 acres. These simple figures tell graphically of the magnitude of the conflagration.

A BRILLIANT SOCIAL EVENT.

DOUBLE WEDDING AT THE RESIDENCE OF MR. W. G. BALSLEY.

Misses Elizabeth and Pearl Balsley, and Mr. P. D. Gold, Jr., and Dr. L. M. Humphrey, the Contracting Parties.

The hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Balsley, on North Mendenhall street, was the scene, last night, of one of the most brilliant social events of the season, the occasion being the marriage of two of Greensboro's fairest daughters, Misses Elizabeth and Pearl Balsley to Mr. P. D. Gold, Jr., and Dr. L. M. Humphrey.

The house was decorated with palms, other potted plants, and cut flowers, and from one end to the other blazed with lights. The rooms were thronged with Greensboro's most fashionable society, and many visitors from a distance.

A few minutes after nine o'clock, to the strains of Mendelssohn's march march, the bridal party entered the parlor. First came Miss Pearl Balsley on the arm of her sister, Miss Leonora Balsley, who was her maid of honor, then Dr. Lyndon M. Humphrey, accompanied by his best man and brother, Mr. Lotte W. Humphrey, of Charlotte; then Miss Elizabeth Balsley on the arm of her maid of honor, Miss Alice Borden, of Wilmington, N.C., and following them Mr. Pleasant D. Gold, Jr., accompanied by his brother, who acted as best man, Mr. Joseph M. Gold, of Washington City.

The solemn words of the marriage ceremony were spoken by Rev. P. D. Gold, of Wilson. During the ceremony the Flower Song was softly played by Brockmann's string band. As soon as the couples were declared man and wife their many friends pressed around them offering congratulations and wishing them much happiness.

After the ceremony refreshments were served in the dining room by Caterer Dughi of Raleigh. The dining room was beautifully decorated and the refreshments were served in Dughi's best style.

The couples were the recipients of many handsome and costly presents. Mr. and Mrs. Balsley gave each of their daughters a chest of silver, Rev. and Mrs. Gold gave Mr. and Mrs. Gold, Jr., a handsome silver tea service. Mrs. Humphrey gave Dr. and Mrs. Humphrey a handsome leather couch, and the grooms each gave their brides a beautiful brooch of diamonds and pearls. In addition to these presents given by the parents of the contracting parties, the happy couples were the recipients of an array of cut glass, silver, pictures, china, and furniture seldom before witnessed.

Those who came from a distance to witness the ceremony were Mr. Lotte W. Humphrey, of Charlotte, N.C.; Mr. Joseph M. Gold, of Washington, D.C.; Miss Alice Borden, of Wilmington, N.C.; Rev. and Mrs. P. D. Gold, of Wilson, N.C.; Misses Ruth and Bessie Gold, of Wilson, N.C.; Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Pippen, of Enfield, N.C.; Mrs. Ida C. Humphrey, of Goldsboro, N.C.; Mr. Don C. Humphrey, of Goldsboro, N.C.; Miss Eliza Simmons, of Raleigh, N.C.; Col. and Mrs. J. E. Robinson, of Goldsboro, N.C.; Mr. Don C. Humphrey, of Goldsboro, N.C.; Mr. Orrin C. Painter, of Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. Louisa M. Deacon, of Wilmington, Delaware; and Dr. and Mrs. T. E. Balsley, of Reidsville, N.C.

Miss Pearl Balsley wore a going away gown of tan cloth, and carried bride's roses. Miss Elizabeth Balsley wore a going away gown of blue cloth, and carried bride's roses. The maids of honor wore white organdy.

The happy couple left on the vestibule for a bridal trip of three weeks. They will visit the Pan-American Exposition, Niagara, New York, Baltimore, Washington, and will return home by way of Goldsboro and Wilson N.C., stopping there to visit the parents of the grooms.

The Misses Balsley have a host of friends in this city who wish them bon voyage through life. Mr. Gold has made Greensboro his home for the past two years, and during that time has made many friends here. He is manager of Bradstreet's office here. Dr. Humphrey has recently graduated from the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, and will locate in Greensboro after his return. His office will be in the Greensboro Loan and Trust Company building.

ECLIPSE OF THE SUN.*Visible Over a Portion of the Eastern Hemisphere.

Next Friday there will be a total eclipse of the sun visible over a portion of the Eastern Hemisphere. This eclipse will be observed by astronomers gathered together from all parts of the world. As it happens that the path of the shadow cast by the moon upon the earth crosses the island of Sumatra, in the East Indies, American scientists have traveled half way round the globe to see the eclipse in its totality.

Journey which occupies months seems disproportionate to spectacle that lasts for five minutes and fifty-one seconds, and yet, this eclipse is an unusually long one, and the most elaborate preparations have been made to record for future study the interesting features of the event. Expeditions have been sent out by various governments. One party has gone from the United States Naval Observatory in Washington; another from the Lick Observatory in California; and a third from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Boston, Mass.

Mr. John T. Thacker returned last night from Richmond, Va., where he attended the annual meeting of the American Mechanics Funeral Benefit Association, which met there this week.

Mr. Thacker was a delegate from Greensboro Council No. 13. He reports a large crowd in attendance, the number of delegates present being 223.

Atlantic City, New Jersey, was selected as the place for holding the next meeting of the association. In speaking of this fact Mr. Thacker says that Greensboro received a favorable vote on an invitation extended to hold the next meeting here.

RECEIVED A BELLING.*Southside Young Folks Treat a Newly Married Couple to the Real Thing.

Mr. J. D. Lancaster and Miss Mary Taylor, both of Holcomb Rock, Va., were married at the home of the bride's parents yesterday morning. They arrived in this city last night and spent the night with Mr. Lancaster's sister, Mrs. F. K. Trigdon. Learning of the circumstances the young people of South Greensboro treated them last night to an old fashioned belling. They left this afternoon for Oak Ridge to visit Mr. Lancaster's parents.

For Keeping Best Set of Books.

Mr. Will Fields, a student at Oak Ridge Institute, was awarded the prize a five dollar gold piece, for keeping the finest set of books in his class. The class was composed of sixty students. Mr. Fields is a son of Mr. W. A. Fields, of this city.

Mr. R. M. Smith went to Burlington this morning.

EAGLE'S OPENING LAST NIGHT.

A THOUSAND PEOPLE VISIT THE HALL DURING THE EVENING.

Now the Firemen Get Ready for a Fire—A Neat Invention by One of the Men to Stop the Clock.

The opening of the new quarters of the Eagle Hose Company No 7 last night was a decided success. It is estimated that fully a thousand persons visited the hall during the evening. The crowds began to assemble about eight o'clock, and from then until nearly midnight, the hall was thronged. The building was furnished by the city, but the wagon, horse, furniture, etc., belong to the company. The assembly hall is handsomely furnished, and contains pictures of the present chief of the department, Mr. F. N. Taylor, ex-chiefs Bascomb Fields, and C. D. Benlow, Mr. H. J. Elam, president of the Company, and "Prince" the company's horse.

Sleeping apartments are arranged upstairs for four men, and in case the alarm sounds when the men are upstairs, a pole is arranged for them to slide down to the room below. When an alarm is turned in the gong in the room sounds, and at the same time by an automatic arrangement, the horse is released from his stall and so well trained is this animal that he immediately trots out in front of the wagon, and then backs into the shafts and harness, which are suspended in the air by means of ropes and pulleys.

Thus when an alarm is turned in at the dead of night, by the time the men upstairs can get up, don a few clothes and slide down the pole, the horse is standing quietly in place and the work of pulling down the harness and buckling it on him is but the work of a few seconds.

As soon as the harness is on, the driver climbs into the seat and pulling a cord the front doors are released and spring open. With the opening of the doors, the horse starts off, not waiting to be ordered, but until the doors are opened he manifests no impatience. Much time and care has been spent upon his training, and the result is shown by the almost human intelligence with which he acts.

In honor of the occasion last night the Eagle boys gave away five hundred souvenir buttons, on which were printed a picture of an eagle and the date of the opening of the hall.

Mr. R. C. Whittington, a member of the company, has invented a neat contrivance to tell the hour at which the wagon leaves the building for a fire. A string is attached to the doors, and the other end of the string is attached to a small rod that when the doors are opened the rod is pulled out and the clock is stopped. This is very useful, as in the night it is inconvenient to look at the clock and see just what time the wagon leaves.

Just nineteen seconds from the time the alarm was turned in last night, the wagon was ready to leave, and in that time five men slid down the pole, hooked up the horse, and were ready to fight fire.

TO DON SHIRT WAISTS.*A Sample of the Garment Designed for Mail Men Received in This City.

The mail carriers of this city have been quite curious for some time to see a sample of the shirt waists they will wear in summer, and so Carrier Stewart recently ordered a sample one from Cincinnati. It came yesterday and he proceeded to don it and show the others how it would look. Much merriment was created by the sight of the garment, and some of the carriers say they had rather wear their coats than the shirt waist.

A LIFE AND DEATH FIGHT.

Mr. W. A. Hines of Manchester, Ia., writing of his almost miraculous escape from death says, "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in Consumption. All my doctors said I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which completely cured me. I would not be without it even if it cost $5 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and all say it never fails to cure Throat, Chest and Lung troubles." Regular size 50c and $1. Trial bottles free at C. H. Hester's drug store.

CHINESE IN PHILIPPINES.

Why Their Wholesale Immigration to the Islands Should Be Encouraged.

"The Chinese immigration question is one of the most serious with which congress will have to deal in determining the future of the Philippines," said Henry Clay Thackery, of California. Mr. Thackery recently returned from Manila, where he went to study conditions as the representative of a number of Pacific coast capitalists who are negotiating for a large tract of land in Luzon, which they expect to develop, says the Washington Post. "Everyone is familiar, of course with the controversy as to whether Chinese can be admitted to the Philippines and yet kept out of the United States, and we people on the Pacific coast are keenly alive to the danger that threatens this country should the door be thrown open to Chinese immigration by way of the Philippines. But, as one who is interested in the development of our new island possessions in the Pacific, I am much in favor of admitting as many Chinese there as care to or can be induced to go."

"Though the Spanish 'conquered' the islands some 300 years ago, the Philippines are, to all intents and purposes, a new country, and no new country can be developed without labor. Work the Filipinos will not. They would rather beg or steal five cents a day than earn a dollar by labor. Some one other than the Filipino, therefore, must do the work that is to be done. Americans, or white men from other countries, could never be persuaded to go there in any considerable numbers, so it would seem that practically the only hope of the islands lies in the Chinese. If congress can devise a way to suspend the Chinese exclusion act with reference to the Philippines and yet keep the bars up so far as the rest of the country is concerned, it will confer upon the Philippine islands the greatest boon that could befall them."

OATHS ARE SELDOM HEARD.

Profanity Is Becoming Less Common Except in Small Villages.

"I was reading the other day," said a New York lawyer, "of a visit paid by a Boston man to a little village in Vermont. He declared that all the men and the boys swore incessantly in their conversation; that with them profanity had become instinctive, commonplace and even necessary. It had through long use lost all its force and emphasis; had become an inseparable part of everyday and simple speech."

"I believe this to be true. The little villages I have visited, both in New York and the west, do more swearing to the inhabitant, ten times over, than you will hear in the city of New York."

"To my mind the elimination of profanity from the daily conversation is a matter of culture rather than of religion. Men cease to swear from gentlemanly instincts, just as they avoid other forms of vulgarity. I attend a club regularly where several hundred men lunch each day—men of all lines of trade and of the professions, men who smoke and drink their wines and liquors within reasonable bounds. But they don't swear. You will not hear one oath a day, and when you do it is a part of some story that is told and is dropped in for picturesque emphasis."

"The same thing holds true of the men I meet in other walks of life. You don't hear much of it from the teamsters and other workmen upon the streets. I have heard more oaths from one country yokel in one summer than from all the men I have met in New York for the past ten years."

"Our little girl was unconscious from strangulation during a sudden and terrible attack of croup. I quickly secured a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure, giving her three doses. The croup was mastered and our little darling speedily recovered," so writes A. L. Spafford, Chester, Mich.

NAME FOR KODOL.

The only instance on record when a postoffice has been named after a patent medicine, was last year, when in Wetzel county, W. Va., a new post-office was established and named Kodol, after the famous Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, manufactured by E. C. DeWitt & Co., of Chicago. It had given such satisfactory results that the name was unanimously selected by the people for the new office and adopted by the department at Washington, D. C.

EMBARGO ON RATS.*Measures Adopted by the Health Board of Louisiana.

Regulations Governing the Unloading of Ships to Keep the Pest-Breeding Rodents from Landing—Fears of the Plague.

Ever since the dreaded bubonic plague made its appearance the cause of its spread and means to prevent infection from it has been the study of scientific men all over the world. One theory has been tolerably thoroughly established, and this is that the ordinary ship rat has been and is the chief factor in the spread of the infection, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

When the disease made its appearance in Honolulu, and while efforts were being made to stamp it out, this fact was recognized, and strict measures were employed to guard against the transfer of rats from ships which had touched at infected ports to the island.

Now the attention of the people of the United States is directed to the coast cities of Brazil, where the disease has been reported. Our close commercial relations with that country, particularly in the importation of great quantities of coffee, make an absolutely close quarantine against the ports almost an impossibility.

To devise and put in force a system of careful disinfection, the Louisiana state board of health has promulgated regulations governing the unloading of coffee ships from the suspected South American ports, which, almost from first to last, are aimed against the rat. The board proceeded, in framing the rules, on the theory that the rat family is the medium of infection from plague-stricken ports most to be feared, and these are the regulations which were evolved as a result of this theory:

Coffee ships from infected ports shall be thoroughly disinfected at the quarantine station and detained there five days, being disinfected on the fourth day. The vessel may then come to the city and anchor 100 feet from the wharf, it being calculated that a rat which tried to swim this distance would drown.

After daylight the vessel may be hauled in to within not less than 45 feet of her wharf by means of hawsers, each of which shall be provided with a system of metal funnels and disks, to prevent the passage of rats. These funnels must be of tin, zinc or galvanized iron, with a diameter of not less than 20 inches, and must have sharp serrated edges, and must be hinged, to permit of close adaptation to the hawsers. The metal disks must be of the same material, and must also be fitted with sharp edges. When within 45 feet of the wharf, the regulations provide that stagings shall be placed, across which the unloading must be done. While unloading is going on the regulations provide that "men with shotguns" shall watch the stagings and holds for rats, and shall kill all rats on sight. The man in charge must also "keep men with shotguns in skiffs on each side of the vessel," lest the unfortunate animals should attempt to escape by jumping overboard. Not later than sunset each day the hawsers must be hauled on board and the vessel draw off to her anchorage. The rules significantly state that "rubber gloves shall be used in handling dead rats," and that "dead rats shall be cremated."

The secretary of the board was busily engaged in seeing the agents of coffee ships and securing their acquiescence in the regulations. It is provided that all the expenses of the quarantine are to be borne by the vessel.

The rules are effective at once. Their publication caused a great deal of comment, especially the portions referring to rats, which caused as much laughter as criticism. The board says that the rat is the most dangerous factor in the spread of the plague, and that unless the rules are complied with the importation of coffee must stop.

YOUNG KRUGER IS A HERO.

Grandnephew of the Boer Ex-President Saved a Starving Sheep.

An English clergyman has had the extreme hardihood of relating an anecdote in a Dublin paper that reflects great credit upon a near relative, a grandnephew, of England's arch enemy, Paul Kruger. He was staying at Glendalough with two friends and while boating on the upper lake, under Camaderry mountain, noticed a sheep pitifully bleating on a ledge about 1,000 feet up the sheer cliff. The animal had been there for days and was in a state of semi-starvation. The peasants about had resolved to shoot it and thus end its misery. Young Kruger however, essayed its rescue. He tied a piece of tarred twine round the sole of his boots and climbed up the face of the precipice, much to the anxiety of his friends. The operation took him quite two hours, during which the slightest unsteadiness or wavering would have cost him his life. Halfway up he shouted down that he could not move further. With a final effort, however, he gradually worked his way up, reached the animal and lowered it cautiously until he regained the boat. His intrepid act excited intense admiration among the spectators. His task seemed utterly impossible and in any event was attended with terrible danger. Young Kruger was at the time a medical student at Edinburgh university and on the declaration of war sailed for South Africa.

COMTESSE IN WRESTLING BOUT

Athletic American Woman, Defeated by Her Fiance, Throws Man Who Taunted Her in Two Minutes.

The young Comtesse de Becker is the heroine of an episode which has been excitedly discussed in the most exclusive Franco-American set.

A tall blonde, the comtesse is fond of her reputation as an all-round athlete. She was formerly Helene Richman, of Detroit. Two years ago she divorced her titled Viennese husband. Lately her strength being challenged by her fiance, she offered to wrestle him before 20 intimate friends of both sexes. His victory was stubbornly disputed. The first bout lasted 20 minutes and the second 14. The comtesse was defeated twice. She wore a suit which was startlingly practical.

After the necessary toilet the wrestlers and the crowd adjourned to a supper in a private room at the Cafe Anglaise, where in the course of a joyous feast the comtesse was taunted upon her defeat. She promptly challenged the main offender, Count de Lautrec, and defeated him in two minutes, proving that it took a really strong man to beat her.

Pagan society is making such a protest over the comtesse's actions that she may make her residence in London hereafter.

Returned Klondiker Finds Spouse
Divorced for Supposed Desertion.

Three years ago Jerome W. Jordan, Climax, left Butte Creek, Mich., with a party of men bound for the Klondike. They went to Edmonton and Saskatchewan, Canada, by the Canadian Pacific and started for the land of gold by the overland route. After suffering untold miseries all the party returned home except Jordan, who succeeded in reaching the Klondike alive. He wrote to his wife, but she never received the letters. She supposed that he had deserted her and after waiting over two years sued for divorce. When it was granted her on the ground of desertion, but she rejected all suitors.

Jordan delved and dug like a slave and finally struck it rich. Recently he suddenly put in an appearance at the old home, bronzed and toughened, bringing with him a snug fortune of $100,000.

Explanations followed. Jordan courted his former wife anew and the other day Jordan went to the county seat, obtained a marriage license and the former husband and wife were again reunited in matrimonial state.

A new world's record has been established by the gunners of her majesty's ship Terrible, the big battleship of the Asiatic Squadron. The Terrible had two 9.2 and 12.6-inch guns, the shooting from the former being also a brilliant record, 60 per cent, of hits having been made. Four captains of guns made "possibles," two with ten and two with nine rounds.

The "misses" would have been "hits" had a ship been substituted for the target.
